

Knowledge River – Stress Buster!

Fear those exams no more!

This is a novel and exciting new on-line personalized support service for anyone preparing to take a database and/or SQL examination. Don't sit there at home worrying and getting stressed as you try and revise for that crucial final examination – let us help you through this difficult revision period. We are experts in this field.

The Stress Buster! service operates in the run-up to the final examination throughout the full revision period – just when you need expert help the most. Subscribers to this Knowledge River service get:

- A highly detailed and much praised 300-page database revision guide (see the excellent reviews on this website from our many previous and highly satisfied students) which contains 170 questions (covering the whole range of database and SQL topics) and 170 full solutions and explanations. A real bonus when preparing for any database or SQL examination as you can practice all those technical topics over and over again. Please see the full product description on this website. This PDF e-book is normally £20 when sold alone. We will email it directly to you at the beginning of the revision period and you can keep it as a technical reference source after the exam.
- Detailed examination revision and preparation advice – from a highly experienced and expert database tutor and examiner whose previous database examination setting, marking and moderating experience includes work for various UK universities and colleges, the British Computer Society (world-wide professional BCS exams), the Oxford and Cambridge examination board and the Open University. Get your strategy right as you prepare to attack that crucial final examination – by consulting the experts!
- Unlimited on-going personal email support throughout the full revision period – right up to the examination day itself. Whether you need help on your answers to the 300-page revision guide or any other relevant revision topics – we are happy to help out – just email us.

You get all of the above for a one-off fee of £50.

This is the optimum database revision and examination preparation service – all at a sensible price and delivered digitally right to your desktop. No need to travel, no need to waste money and no need to get stressed out. Just stay calm, use our resources, get in touch with us whenever you like and gain a much deeper understanding of databases and SQL and get those much higher grades that you deserve.

If this service is of interest to you, please email feedback@knowledge-river.co.uk for informal discussions without any obligation. Good luck in the exam!